

David Evans Appointed Squash Wales Performance Director

Former world number 3, David Evans, has been appointed to the position of Performance Director (Operational) for Squash Wales.

Taking up his new role in February 2019, Evans will be responsible for developing strategy, systems, plans and reporting structures that will drive an elite culture of excellence through output-focused results across a range of age categories and playing ability.

Representing Wales at more than 100 major international events, Evans excelled for his country at four Commonwealth Games, as well as helping Wales to a World Team Championship silver medal in 2000.

Since retiring from his hugely successful playing career, he has held positions as Director of Squash in Jersey and Senior High Performance Coach for Squash Wales.

Evans said: "This is an exciting step which presents a great opportunity for me to design, develop, manage and deliver the vision for Squash Wales' high-performance strategy and national team programmes at both senior and junior levels."

Using a wealth of experience gained from years of both playing and coaching the game, Evans will operationalise the development of an effective elite-level athlete and coach high performance development pathway for Squash Wales.

We at Squash Wales would like to congratulate David on his appointment and wish him every success in his new role.
